NAVAL MANŒUVERS.

Top of U. S. Fleet in Massachusetts Bay.

BOSTON, Aug. 16. The United States war vessels Atlanta, Kearsarge, Yorktown, Terrel, Dolphin and Cushing left their anchorage at 9.30 this morning for Massachusetts Bay where an interesting series of ocean manœuvers were performed. The wharves and shipping on both sides of the stream were crowded with people who gave the stately fleet a hearty send off and a half dozen excursion steamers, a large number of yachts and other sailing craft, all laden with people, followed the steamers below. The Grand Army men still remaining in the city were on the steamer City of York as special guests of the occasion.

The United States cruisers Delphin, Yorktown, Atlanta and Kearsarge sailed for New York to-day at 1 o'clock from off Minot's Light, where they have been manœuvring during the forenoon.

BEHRING SEA QUESTION.

Lord Salisbury's Last Dispatch to Secretary Blaine.

LONDON, Aug. 16. Lord Salisbury's last dispatch to Secretary Blaine, relative to the Behring Sea dispute, bears date of Aug. 2. After quoting from historical documents, the dispatch concludes: These show that Russia refused to admit any part of the Russian claim, asserted in the ukase of 1821, to marine jurisdiction and the exclusive right of fishing throughout the whole extent of that claim, from Behring Straits to the 51st parallel; also that the convention of 1825 was regarded by both sides as a renunciation on the part of Russia of that claim in its entirety, and that, though Behring Straits was known and specifically provided for, Behring Sea was not known by that name, but was regarded as a part of the Pacific Ocean, her majesty's government always claimed freedom of navigation and fishing in Behring Sea outside the limit of a marine league from the coast. It is impossible to admit that the right to fish and catch seals by subjects other than the parties that have the right to hold it can be held to be abandoned by a notice from the parties that the a certain number of years it has not suited the inhabitants of that nation to exercise such a right. It must be remembered that the citizens of British Columbia are entitled, and the development of the colony's fishing industry, are comparatively recent. If the United States government cannot agree to differ with Great Britain as to the legality of the recent captures, her majesty's government is ready to refer the question with the issues dependent thereon to impartial arbitration.

For Governor,

EDWIN C. BURLEIGH,

FOR REPRESENTATIVES TO CONGRESS

County Nominations.

Marking the Choice they Produce to Advertise.

The Lewiston Journal referring to the speech of a Third Party advocate says:

[illegible]

The point is well taken. The Democracy, or backbone of the Third Party, [illegible] the program of all the reform work. This constituency has never been more clearly demonstrated than in the present campaign in this State. With prohibition as the issue before the people, and with the fight so evidently then the opinions of the State on that issue will be generally be [illegible] and Democratic candidates, there will be only a [illegible] for the thoroughbred but urge others to follow their lead in constituting conduct to the contingent of the [illegible] campaign, for that is the only possible effect of the Third Party vote. No amount of sophistry or ingenuity will change this fact. It stands out as clear as daylight and the effort to one that can only discourage the temperance cause and prohibition. The moment that Candidate Clark declared his purpose to remain in the field there was only the Democratic camp and the license organs have been singing his praises ever since. They can well afford to because every vote he gets will serve their purpose fully as well as though it were thrown directly for the Democratic ticket. Whatever sentiment may exist in the state in opposition to prohibition is intensified by those men who, while professing to be ultra temperance men, really join forces with the Democrats who are attempting to substitute a license law for the prohibitory law. Fortunately, however, the party is very small in this State and the indications are that its vote this year will hardly come up to the average, as many who have heretofore acted with them propose to have their votes count for prohibition.

The Election Bill.

The action of certain Republican senators is playing into the hands of the Democrats by an attempt to prevent a consideration of the Election bill at this session of Congress is astonishing. The Republican party stands pledged to this legislation in its National and State platforms. Not a plank of the party platform of 1888 was more specific and no plank received a more cordial indorsement in the public mind than the straight forward declaration in favor of fair ballots for all elections of the country. For months [illegible] the Senate committee approve [illegible] the passage of the bill which has been passed, [illegible] requested speed so as to [illegible] some hundreds of amendments every one of the Democrats, who have proved on every [illegible] the failure of a Republican bill. By the bring the consideration of such amendments to put it through the Senate.

I pose what ground there will remain for the Democrats to produce a thing very difficult to understand. Certainly Senator Gray [illegible] to the Senate. To say to that the Democratic party is in danger is to think that the Republican majority in the Senate is temporarily controlled the interests of the party. For weeks now the Democrats have been prepared to vote down the Elections bill. Their only object, evidently, [illegible] the end to the country, to see such amendments under the present rules of the Senate as will [illegible] the end of the session. There will not be accepted by the people as a reasonable excuse for allowing the Election bill to go by default. Exactly the same purpose manifests itself in the House when the Democratic minority sought by every means in its power to usurp the functions of the majority, but that attempt failed and the House passed both the Tariff bill and the Election bill, thus redeeming in full the pledges made to the people by the Republican party in the last election.

A Republican Senate cannot afford to do less. Any attempt to ride roughshod the Election bill should be defeated. If this important measure, and not one is of more importance because upon the honesty of the ballot rests the foundation of good government, is to fail of consideration let the record be made upon a yea and nay vote. The friends of the bill in the Senate should insist upon the vote being taken in this way. Put every Senator on record so that the country may know who is responsible for the failure if the bill is not considered.

A Free Trade Fallacy.

Never has a free trade theory been so effectually exploded as that particularly idiotic assertion that the tariff is a tax upon the American consumer. There has never been a time when the free trader could make any thing like an argument in support of this favorite mode of attacking the tariff, whatever [illegible] may have exerted rating entirely upon the force of constant reiteration in a certain class of organs that completely ignored the facts presented in opinion refutation of the theory. This method of conducting a campaign could be continued, to long as the organs of the opposition [illegible] [illegible] the country [illegible] the tariff bill. The Republicans [illegible] the country [illegible] the tariff bill. The Democrats

A GREAT NATION.

Population of the United States Estimated at Sixty-four Millions.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16. The census office to-day practically completed the count of the population of the United States, but there are about 1200 enumeration districts, the returns from which have not been received. In consequence of this delay the announcement of the population of the several States cannot be made for some days yet. The count up to this time shows an aggregate of 62,000,000 and when the entire count is finished the population of the country according to Mr. Porter's estimate, will be about 63,000,000, or an increase of about thirty per cent during the decade.

SIR JOSEPH'S VIEWS.

He Writes on the Traffic of Canadian Railroads.

TORONTO, Aug. 16. Sir Joseph Hickson has written a letter to the Globe in reference to the complaints made by American railways against the Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific roads. Sir Joseph says: "Their complaint is not well founded and it is no secret that their desire is to prevent Canadian companies carrying United States traffic at all and that they should be subject to traffic arrangements to the provisions of the Interstate commerce act of the United States Congress. The Canadian companies from the date when the Interstate came into effect have recognized that it was incumbent upon them in dealing with traffic to or from the United States, and Canada or traffic passage through Canada from one State to another of the United States to observe the terms and conditions of the Inter-State commerce act."

Sir Joseph concludes as follows:

"After somewhat extensive experience I am prepared to assert that the Canadian companies do not derive from the operation of the Inter-State commerce act any advantage whatever over United States competitors."

SARATOGA TRACK SOLD.

W. J. Arkell, of Judge, the Purchaser.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Aug. 16. As a result of the negotiations concluded today the Saratoga race track has been sold to W. J. Arkell, of Judge and Frank Leslie. Rumor has it for some time that Arkell, representing a syndicate, had been negotiating for the purchase of the track, but not until to-day did the matter take definite shape. When questioned to-day Albert Spencer, who owns three-fourths of the stock, admitted he had sold his interest to Arkell, but declined to state the consideration.

He did not care to say who was associated with Arkell in the purchase, but it is generally believed here that August Belmont and Pierre Lorillard have a share in it. The new proprietor will take possession October 1, and it is the intention to improve the station and put it on a security with the Monmouth Park and Sheepshead. A jockey club will be organized and a hundred thousand dollars will be spent on the track.

CONGRESSIONAL.

River and Harbor Bill Passed by the Senate.

Mr. Quay Attempts to Introduce His Resolution

To Dodge Consideration of the Election Bill.

The Anti-Lottery Bill Passed by the House.

The Provisions of the Bill to Relieve an Evil.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16. In the Senate the consideration of the River and Harbor bill was resumed, the pending question being on the amendment proposed by Mr. Frye to the Harlem river item.

Mr. Hawley offered an amendment to the amendment—the principal distinction being that the new bridges shall be without any draw spans or draws in openings.

Mr. Frye, Chairman of the Committee on Commerce, suggested that the Senators from Connecticut and Texas seemed to underrate the importance to commerce of the improvement of the Harlem river.

After a long debate the amendment offered by Mr. Hawley was rejected—yeas 24, nays 25—and the amendment offered yesterday by Mr. Frye for draw bridges was laid on the table, but with the understanding that the whole question would be considered by the conference committee.

Various other amendments to the River and Harbor bill were offered and discussed.

During the progress of this business, Mr. Quay asked leave to offer a resolution ordering, first, that during the present session of Congress the Senate will not take up for consideration any legislative business other than the Tariff bill, conference reports, general appropriation bills, pension bills, bills relating to the public lands, to United States courts, to the postal service, to agriculture and forestry and to public buildings and Senate or concurrent resolutions; second, that the consideration of all other bills shall be postponed till next session; third, that a vote shall be taken on the Tariff bill and on amendments then pending without further debate on August 30, the voting to commence at 2 P. M., and to continue on that and subsequent days (to the exclusion of all other business) until the bills and pending amendments are finally disposed of, and notice is given that such an order will be offered for adoption in the Senate.

The presiding officer (Mr. Manderson)—In the absence of objection to the request of the Senator from Pennsylvania that he be allowed to introduce the resolution now?

Mr. Edmunds—I object.

The presiding officer—Objection being made, the resolution cannot be introduced.

The consideration of the River and Harbor bill was then proceeded with, on amendments offered by individual Senators.

The bill was then reported to the Senate, the amendments made in Committee of the Whole were agreed to, and the bill was passed.

A conference committee was asked and appointed on the part of the Senate.

The conference report on the House bill to establish a national military park at the battlefield of Chickamauga, was presented by Mr. Hawley and agreed to.

Mr. Cullom gave notice of his intention to move for the change of rules as set out in resolution which he had to-day asked unanimous consent to offer, and said that he would to-call up the motion before Tuesday next.

After a short executive session the Senate adjourned.

House.

The vote recurred on the Nat Mulkey bill, and the bill was passed—yeas, 83; nays, 65 (no speaker counting a quorum).

Mr. Cannon, of Illinois, from the Committee on Rules, reported a resolution for the immediate consideration of the Anti-Lottery bill, the previous question to be considered as ordered at 4:30 this afternoon.

Mr. Breckinridge, of Kentucky, put on record his opposition to a rule which fixed a time for the previous question on the bill.

The resolution was adopted, and, in conformity with its provisions, the Anti-Lottery bill was taken up.

Mr. Crain, of Texas, offered an amendment striking out the clause providing that the public advertisement of a lottery company that remittances may be made to any other corporation or person shall be held to be an acknowledgment of the existence of a lottery agency. In supporting his amendment Mr. Crain said that the lottery scheme ought to be suppressed (if it was deserving of suppression) in a legal and constitutional manner.

The provision in the bill was unconstitutional. The announcement of the fact by one individual that another was his agent, even without his knowledge, would deprive the latter person of his right to receive his money orders, packages or letters. The bill was radically defective in this respect.

Mr. Hopkins, of Illinois, opposed the amendment. The situation suggested by the gentleman from Texas could never arise. A lottery company would never designate a person as its agent who would not be financially responsible to it. Such a case was within the bounds neither of probability or possibility.

Subsequently Mr. Crain withdrew his amendment.

Mr. Hepburn, of Iowa, offered an amendment striking out the clause providing that any person violating the provisions of the bill may be proceeded against, either in the district at which the unlawful publication was mailed or to which it is carried by mail for delivery. Rejected.

Mr. Wilkinson, of Louisiana, in supporting the measure, admitted the pollution which the Louisiana lottery had brought upon his State. The people of Louisiana looked with gladness to the time when lotteries would be prohibited in that State. He was so confident as he was that he stood here that the lottery scheme would be overwhelmingly defeated, and that this blot upon the State of Louisiana would be wiped off the statute books.

Mr. Evans, of Tennessee, advocated the bill. He dropped into statistics, and stated that a ticket holder in the Louisiana lottery to draw their capital prize was 1 chance in 67,000.

Mr. Hansbrough, of North Dakota, favored the bill, and, in reference to the recent attempt to establish a lottery in that State, thanked God that his people had not yet reached that condition of poverty that they were willing to sell their honor and manhood.

The bill was then passed. It provides that no letter, postal card or circular, concerning any lottery, so-called gift concerts, or other similar enterprise offering prizes dependent upon lot or chance (or concerning scheme devised for the purpose of obtaining money or property under false pretenses) and no list of the drawings at any lottery or similar scheme, and no lottery ticket or part thereof, and no check, draft, bill, money, post-office or money order for the purchase of any ticket, ticket, or part thereof, or of any share or any chance in any such lottery or gift enterprise, shall be carried in the mail, or delivered at or through any post-office or branch thereof, or by any letter carrier nor shall any newspaper, circular, pamphlet, or publication of any kind, containing any advertisement of any lottery or gift enterprise of any kind, offering prizes dependent upon lot or chance, or containing any list of prizes awarded at the drawings of any such lottery or gift enterprise, whether said list is of any part or of all the drawings, be carried in the mail, or delivered by any postmaster or letter carrier.

It is made a misdemeanor punishable by not exceeding $500 fine or imprisonment for not more than one year, or both, for any person to knowingly deposit, or cause to be deposited, any thing to be carried through the mails in violation of this section. Any such person shall be liable to be arrested and tried in any district where the offense is committed, or to which the matter is carried by mail, and upon conviction shall be punished as aforesaid. Any person who shall receive any money or property for the purpose of betting or wagering upon any lottery, gift enterprise or scheme for the distribution of any property by chance, or who shall be found in any room or place where such lottery, gift enterprise or scheme for the distribution of any property by chance is being operated or conducted, shall be deemed prima facie evidence of a violation of this section by such person.

TAKE S.S.S. IN THE SPRING.

Nature should be assisted in the spring to throw off the heaviness of the sluggish winter circulation of the blood. Nothing does it so well, so prompt or so safely as Swift's Specific.

I have used S S S for a number of years, and consider it the best tonic and blood remedy that I ever used. In act I would not attempt to enter upon a spring or summer in this climate without it H W COLEMAN, Of Coleman, Ferguson & Co., Dade City, Fla.

CHAPTER IV.

"I am the keeper of the priory," I said, [illegible] "Would you believe it? Our house was broken into that very night. Nothing serious, you know, of course, considering the value of it, wouldn't be stolen, owing to Jacob's extraordinary precaution of having the house lighted. While we gaped like two [illegible] at the sudden illumination, and had emerged half by reaching Hooker's 'Ecclesiastical Polity' by the night light, the robbers became startled at the sudden burst of gas, and ran off without a booty. Of course, we immediately sent for the police, and had emerged half by reaching Hooker's 'Ecclesiastical Polity' by the night light, for the robbers became startled at the sudden burst of gas, and ran off without booty. Of course, we immediately sent for the police, and had [illegible] which had evidently been used by the burglars, who had evidently been disturbed before they had time to carry off any plate, or other valuables. The plate, however, was safely locked up in the strong room, and the robbers had not even succeeded in opening the door of the room in which it was kept. The only thing they have succeeded in carrying off is a small silver tankard, which I am sorry to say is not worth much, but which I shall miss very much, as it was a prize I gained at school, and I had intended to have it engraved with my crest and motto, and to have it handed down to my eldest boy, if I should ever have one. I shall be very sorry to lose it, and I shall be very sorry to lose it, and I shall be very sorry to lose it, and
